Possible influences on Australian academic librarians’ understandings of their role in education and training

Romany Manuell (Doctoral Student)
Charles Sturt University
Supervisors: Dr Mary Carroll, Dr Mary Anne Kennan, Dr Barbara Combes

Abridged Bibliography

Abridged Bibliography

Anderson, P. (1986). The beginnings of instruction in library use: Selected German examples from the 17th to 19th centuries.

Arendts, M. (2026). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2027). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2028). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2031). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2032). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2033). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2034). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2038). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2039). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2041). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2042). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2045). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2046). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2047). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2048). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2051). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2052). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2053). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2055). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2056). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2057). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2058). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2059). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2062). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2064). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2065). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2066). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2067). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2068). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2072). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

Arendts, M. (2074). The development of user education and training in academic libraries: A historical perspective.

